Tip of the Month

Want to see just how much quality footwork can improve your game? Try this:

The next time you are hitting baseline-to-baseline, work on timing the biggest possible split-step you can take so you land right as your opponent strikes the ball.

Do this for 20 balls, then try to take two smaller split-steps with the same timing.

Then try it with three. Then four. Then as many as you can!

You'll be surprised by how intuitive the footwork AFTER the split-step becomes when you give your body those cues to get ready!
